

It's easy to take things for granted...

... to forget how much people give out of the goodness of their hearts,

... and how much more beautiful our world is with their effort.

for Xenia - The one who hung my stars.